

Mr. Steve Pociask is the Executive Vice President and Chief Economist for the economic consulting firm Joel Popkin and Company. He is responsible for a wide variety of applied economic studies, including those dealing with public policy, regulatory economics, productivity measurement, market research, antitrust issues, postal reform and economic impact studies. In telecommunications, he has worked on access reform, price cap regulation, deregulation proceedings, strategic planning, marketing, competitive analysis and financial modeling of high-speed data services. He has extensive experience in process benchmarking.

He has almost twenty years experience in the telecommunications industry. Prior to joining Joel Popkin and Company, he was Chief Economist for a major telecommunications firm. He has completed his Masters in Economics and has undertaken Post-doctoral studies at George Mason University. He has published in both economic and industry journals.

He resides in Oak Hill, VA and has three children.